

"EL PASO'S REDLIGHT'S CLOSED, LET'S KEEP IT SO," SAYS CHIEF

Head of Local Police Department After Thorough Study of Vice Control in Many Other Cities Declares That Segregation Policy Is Wholly Wrong and That We Can Have Clean City.

THE "redlight" districts have been abolished by most of the largest cities of the east. And chief of police B. J. Zabriske, who recently visited these cities and made a study of the social evil, believes that segregation on a "reservation" in El Paso is an unnecessary evil and that it should not be allowed again to exist.

When chief Zabriske went east he visited Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Boston, New York, Washington, Atlanta, New Orleans, Houston and San Antonio. In only three of these cities, New Orleans, San Antonio and Houston, did he find restricted districts, and San Antonio has since abolished its district under pressure from the war department.

The chief has his heart set on making El Paso a better and cleaner city. And he hopes to accomplish this by forming a "Citizens' Home Defense League," composed of prominent citizens who will lend their support to the police department. Just as the league in New York city does. By gaining the support and confidence of the citizens the chief hopes to build up the police department to a high standard.

Segregation An Evil Thing.

In speaking of segregation and his inspection of the police system of coping with the social evil in eastern cities he said:

"Segregation of the social evil has for centuries proven an unnecessary evil and I find that cities where there are no restricted districts are cleaner and much better than the cities where they exist."

NEW VARIETY OF CORNS GROWN

It Does Well in Cold and Dry Climates; To Increase Normal Yield.

New York, June 23.—Corn, once known as the king of American cereals is about to climb back on to his throne, according to a statement issued by the American museum of national history. At a time when there is a serious shortage of wheat, a discovery just announced by the agricultural experts of the museum will, it was stated, undoubtedly be received with keen interest by many American farmers.

In front of the museum building, where once grew tulips, today corn is sprouting. The cereal now in the flower garden is the Mandan maize, the secrets of the cultivation of which were kept for many years by the Mandan Indians. Associates of the department of anthropology of the American museum gained the confidence of Mandan chieftains and obtained the secret of the cultivation of this variety of corn, which grows successfully in cold dry climates. The Mandan maize is now being planted through out the United States. The kernels are in remarkable shades of red, black and blue. The farmers of Montana and other mountain states will be able to raise a corn which will develop in the proper season. The discovery will greatly increase the volume of corn production for the United States.

merely flourished. They have long since been closed. Mr. Cahillane has made a special study of the social evil and has written a book on the subject, which is considered an authority by the police officials throughout the United States and other countries.

"In his investigation and study of the question he announces that segregation is a social evil and that cities without districts are much better and cleaner than the cities where they exist."

"Mr. Cahillane said the New York police department has become much more efficient since the district was closed and gave me a list of salaries paid the police. As inspector he receives $6000 a year; 35 captains receive $1125 each; 600 lieutenants $2250 each; 725 sergeants, $1750 each; a borough inspector $1200, and 17 inspectors $2000 each. The New York police system is one of the greatest I have ever seen."

"In speaking of the Home Defense League, composed of leading citizens, Mr. Cahillane said that it has a membership of 50,000 and that the cooperation of the citizens in what adds materially to the efficiency of the police department. It is my ambition to have a league formed on similar lines for El Paso."

What's Doing in El Paso.

"The closing of the restricted district here was an easy matter. The difficult part of the task in cleaning up El Paso now is to close up rooming houses where prostitution is practiced. This will take time. It will require about six months to show the decided results that will be accomplished. But at the end of this time El Paso will be a cleaner, better city and in my opinion there will be no citizen in the city who will object to it."

"I am now having compiled a list of all rooming and lodging houses in the city. When the list is complete, the police will serve notices and if after three days this practice is continued they will be raided and the inmates prosecuted. In many instances proprietors who have been warned about such practices have replied that they had no idea that the women were of such character, but when they are warned there will be no possibility of such excuses being offered."

"The proprietors of the better hotels and apartment houses cooperate with the police in combating the evil. It is the proprietors of cheaper places that in many instances harbor these women."

"Keep the District Closed."

"There will no doubt always be prostitution to a certain extent practiced in El Paso and in other cities. But keep the district closed and the young men and young women will grow up not knowing a much better life and will not be susceptible to the lures and traps. The hardened women will leave the city. There will be some of the immoral class remain, no doubt, but they will not be street walkers and frequenters of beer joints and cafes. Right here I want to say that women of questionable character will not be allowed to frequent these places. They will be watched and if they make a crooked move will be arrested."

Mr. Zabriske intends compelling all lodging houses, rooming houses and cheaper hotels to keep registers subject to police inspection. The chief is working hard in completing his plans for cleaning the city and he is receiving letters of advice from the police departments of the various cities he visited in reply to requests he has made.

Officer In Pajamas Arrests Two Men In Auto; One Gets Away

Attired in pajamas and armed with a six shooter, C. M. Litchfield, 815 North Virginia street, a deputy sheriff, Friday, chased three men whom he said saw trying to unlock changes from his Hudson touring car, and succeeded in capturing two of them. The third escaped.

Hearing a car drive up in front of his house, the officer looked out a window and saw the men standing in front of his machine. He then started after them and the men ran for their car. Sprinting across the street in his bare feet the officer climbed on the running board and with drawn revolver made them halt their machine which had in the meantime been started. One of the men got away and Litchfield then made the other two drive him to the police station.

Then men gave their names as A. R. Purger and H. Keiser. The latter is said to be a driver for the Greenleaf auto and was shortly after their arrest, Frank Ejerio, 1001 Nevada street, identified three castings in the machine as those stolen from him.

Officer Litchfield filed complaint against the two men in the county court charging them with robbery.
